The World's CHOICEST PEONIES

1921 SUPPLEMENT
TO MY REGULAR CATALOGUE

Extract from a paper by Lee R. Bonnewitz, read at meeting of Northwestern Peony and Iris Society, December, 1916.

One Thursday in June 1915 it pleased me to get a letter from my St. Paul friend and peony lover, Mr. D. W. C. Ruff, telling me how fine his peonies were blooming, and the following morning, while working in my own garden, the thought suddenly came to me, that it would be delightful to see the famous peonies of the Northwest. It took but a moment to begin to put the thought into action, and in less than three hours I was on my way to the Twin Cities, and Saturday morning found me in the most beautiful peony garden I had ever seen. "Le Cygne," "La France," "La Lorraine," "Alsace Lorraine," "Sarah Bernhardt," "Madame Jules Dessert," "Therese," "Rosa Bonheur," "Primevere," "Mont Blanc," "Mignon," "M. Martin Cahuzac," "Evangeline," and dozens of other of the world's finest varieties were blooming as I had never seen them before. I was so delighted with Mr. Ruff's garden that I spent two days in it, and I really wanted to stay a week.
